Gladstone Michel Weisberg Willner & Sloane attorneys are deeply committed to civil rights work whether we are aggressively protecting the civil liberties of individuals or defending our corporate clients whose legitimate business practices have been unfairly attacked as civil rights violations.

We have successfully represented individuals and entities in consumer protection and civil rights cases involving:

- Employment discrimination
- Sexual harassment
- First Amendment rights relating to freedom of speech and religion
- Racial profiling based on race, ethnicity, gender and disability
- Individual rights in higher education
- Fair housing
- Public accommodations
- Police accountability
- Due process and other constitutional rights and protections

Our civil rights team is comprised of experienced and proven trial lawyers who represent both plaintiffs and defendants in state and federal lower and appellate courts, a practice that has allowed us to "see both sides of the field" when representing clients. As a client, you can count on us to understand your needs and achieve your goals in the most efficient and cost-effective manner possible.
